Discussions related to UG and PG Syllabus:

UG Suggestions:

- * Visual Basic Programming Theory and practical papers may be removed as they are out-dated.
- * Instead of VB, R programming or Data Analytics may be included.
- * Emerging papers like MEAN stack (Mongo DB, Elastic, Angular, Node) and JAM Stack (Java Script, Angular, Mongo DB) may be included

PG Suggestions:

- * For text and Reference books, Latest edition must be offered
- * ToT paper in elective stream and Wireless networks in Core stream may be swapped because students studied 'Networks' papers in UG.

The committee appreciated the outcome-based syllabus preparation and the introduction of self-study papers to earn extra credits.

The course pattern and syllabi for both UG and PG courses were discussed and the above suggestions were given by subject experts.

The course pattern and syllabi were approved.

For UG,

Discussions relating to general course pattern:

Some syllabus of UG courses were suggested and were carried out.

It's recommended to introduce the basic core course concept to the students, we have History of Mathematics and Vedic Mathematics.

Discussion relating to new major elective course of Laplace Transforms, Fourier Transform and Z-Transforms and Combinatorics.

It's recommended to introduce Skill elective course paper - (i) MATLAB and paper - (ii) Soft Skill professionals.

The syllabus will hold good for the UG students admitted from the batch 2020-2021 onwards.

There is no change in the common papers prescribed by the university.

Students are assigned three Self Studies papers

1. Theory of Numbers

2. Astronomy

3. Quantitative Techniques

for I, II & III Year Majors and Allied Mathematics

Papers suggestions were given to modified the syllabus given importance to basic concepts rather than to given vast syllabus.

The running paper has been removed from this year. (Including NME) ~~(MBA/MS)~~

There will be 9 core courses (1 paper with 5 credits and 5 courses 4 credits and 1 paper 3 credits)

There will be 3 elective papers (3 papers with 3 credits) for each.

There will be 3 skill elective papers with 2 credits for each.

Extension activity 1 credits and 2 non-major elective 2 credits for each.

Total credits for UG Course will be 140

There is no change in the Question paper pattern.

There is no change in the Continuous interval Assessment pattern for UG.

PG course :

Necessary changes in the syllabus for PG papers were suggested.

This syllabus real analysis paper has been split into two one real analysis first semester and another real mathematical analysis second semester has been changed.

Optimization Techniques core course is included this syllabus.

It's recommended to introduced two elective course of Number theory and Cryptography and Transform theory on function spaces.

There will be 14 core courses (10 courses with 5 credits and 4 courses with 4 credits).

There will be 5 elective paper with 4 credits for each.

Total credits for PG course will be 90.

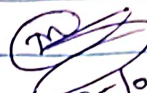

There is no change in the Question paper pattern and continuous internal assessment pattern for PG.

M.Phil

- Spectroscopy guide paper title to be changed to Molecular Spectroscopy
- Advanced Physics title to be changed

PG Programme

- For Practical Examinations the following marking scheme may be considered with distribution as Internal 25 marks and external 75 marks out of 100 marks
- Regarding the distribution of Marks for practical Examinations out of 100
 - Internal -25 Marks
 - Model Examination- 15 Marks
 - Record - 05 Marks
 - Internal Viva - 05Marks
 - External -75 Marks
 - Practical Examination – 60 Marks
 - External Viva -15 Marks

- Question Pattern for course work may be changed as
 - Section –A - Objective type – $10*1 = 10$ Marks
 - Section –B - Paragraph type - (Either -or) $-5*5=25$ Marks
 - Section - C- Essay type (open Choice)-(4 out of 7) = $4*10=40$ Marks

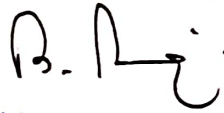

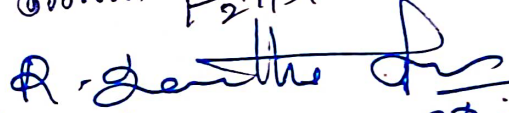

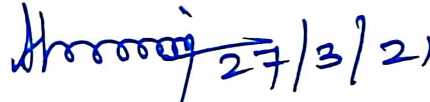

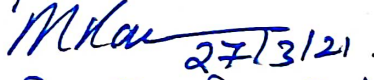

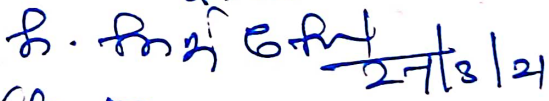

- The following course title may be changed as
 - Thermodynamics and Relativistic Mechanics --→ Thermodynamics and Statistical Mechanics
 - Classical and Statistical mechanics --→ Classical and Relativistic Mechanics
 - Units for the aforementioned courses may be changed accordingly

- Regarding Web resources NPTEL (National Programme on Technology Enhanced Learning) and e-Books may be provided

UG

- For elementary solid state Physics the following changes to be included
 1. Basics of lattice vibration
 2. Specific heat of solids
- Uniformity in Core Course, Allied, AEC distribution to be maintained
- Yoga 1 hour- credit 2 should be changed credit 1
- II year Magneto-statics units to be reorganized
- Suitable title for Physics of Material Elective Course - III

Finally the members of the Board of Studies for Physics Programme (UG,PG and M.Phil) approved the above changes with respect to their suggestions made in the meeting held on 27.03.20201

Govt. Arts College for Women (Autonomous)

Pudukkottai – 622001

I have reviewed the entire syllabus sent to me. Even though the syllabus has been designed well, the following suggestions may be considered while preparing the final version of the syllabus.

- i) All five-unit papers may be given equal weightage in terms of contact hours.
- ii) More than one book has been listed under 'Books for Study'. In such cases, specific units may be mentioned for each book.

1. Each paper carries the objectives and outcomes for each unit of the study.
2. → Morphology & Taxonomy core paper (III sem) (21UB004) has been transferred to Vth semester.
 - Horticulture & plant breeding core paper (21UB012) of Vth semester is shifted to III sem.
 - Plant Physiology & Biochemistry core paper (21UB007) of Vth sem is shifted to VI semester.
 - Forestry and Conservation paper is newly inserted as Skill Enhancement Course II.
 - Nursery field preparation paper is newly inserted as Non-Major Elective.
- Field note and Field Trip is mandatory for Herbarium preparation
- Self study Course - Horticulture -

→ News papers like Mushroom culture, Plant wealth also been introduced.

3. Relevant text Books and Reference Book have been cited.

4. Whenever necessary the correction have been made in the Syllabus.
