Nanoparticle Synthesis Using biological (Green) approach

Different Synthesis Methods

- Use of enzymes and microorganisms
- Use of waste
- Use of plant extracts

Green Synthesis

To date, several microorganisms, including bacteria, fungi, and yeast, certain waste materials and various medicinal plants, have been explored for the synthesis of metal nanoparticles.

In particular, microorganisms demonstrated as new and potential for synthesizing nanoparticles.

Synthesizing nanoparticle (Green method), which is ecofriendly, reproducible, scalable, and well-defined nanoparticles, has become a new trend.
